

TWENTIETH-ANNIVERSARY EDITION

with a new preface by the author

Big House, Little House, Back House, Barn

The Connected Farm Buildings of New England Thomas C. Hubka

BIG HOUSE, LITTLE HOUSE, BACK HOUSE, BARN

The Connected Farm Buildings of New England

With a new preface by the author

Thomas C. Hubka

Brandeis University Press
Waltham, Massachusetts

Brandeis University Press
© 1984 by Trustees of Dartmouth College
Preface to the Twentieth-Anniversary Edition © 2004 by Trustees of Dartmouth College
Preface to the 2022 Edition © 2022 by Thomas C. Hubka
All rights reserved

Manufactured in the United States of America
Designed by Ed King
Typeset in Sabon

First Brandeis University Press edition 2022
Originally published by University Press of New England in 1984

For permission to reproduce any of the material in this book, contact
Brandeis University Press, 415 South Street, Waltham MA 02453, or visit brandeisuniversitypress.com

Library of Congress Control Number: 2022913094
Paperback ISBN: 978-1-68458-135-1
Ebook ISBN: 978-1-68458-136-8

All farmsteads and houses described in this book are privately owned and readers are asked to respect that privacy.

Publication of this volume has been aided by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

5 4 3 2 1

Contents

Preface to the 2022 Edition, ix

Preface to the 20th-Anniversary Edition (2004), xi

Acknowledgments, xv

Introduction, xvii

I CONNECTED FARM BUILDINGS

1 Appearance and Actuality, 3

II PATTERN IN CONNECTED FARM BUILDINGS

2 The Buildings, 32

3 The Buildings and the Land, 70

4 Permanence and Change, 86

5 Pattern in Building and Farming, 113

III REASONS FOR MAKING CONNECTED FARM BUILDINGS

6 Tobias Walker Moves His Shed, 161

7 Why Tobias Walker Moved His Shed, 179

Notes, 205 Bibliography, 213 Glossary, 221

Index, 225 Figure Credits, 227